

WeatherShield™ Accessories and Custom Products

In addition to our standard line of products, ICP also offers various accessories for specific alloys and custom products for unusual applications.

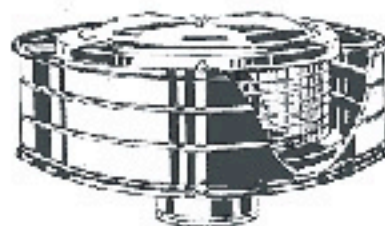

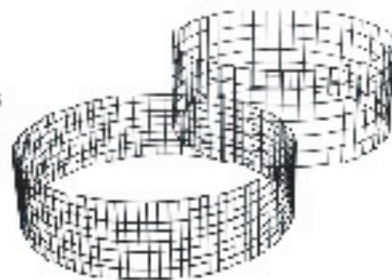

For example, copper or aluminum can be used instead of stainless steel. Special alloys can be used for aesthetic or architectural requirements. For unusual applications, chimney cap sizes are available from 1" in diameter to as large as four feet. Whenever you need a solution for a one-of-a-kind challenge, just call one of our metallurgical engineers. We'll be happy to help you find the answer.

ICP also offers a line of accessories to cover most requirements. Remember to contact us for applications not covered by these standard accessories.
